COCKTAILS

FRENCH '75

£19

Created in 1915 by Harry McElhone at Harry's Bar in Paris, and named after the powerful French 75mm field gun used during the first world war; it first appears in print in 1927 in a bootlegger-friendly volume called 'Here's How!'. From there, it was picked up by the 1930 'Savoy Cocktail Book' and once it was in there, it was everywhere.

Gin, sugar, fresh lemon juice, finished with Champagne

COGNAC CHAMPAGNE COCKTAIL

£19

A well balanced bubbly concoction with all those wintery notes that will make your tongue tingle!

Remy Martin, fig pourée, poire William eau de vie, chocolate bitter, finished with Champagne
Served in a chocolate power rimmed glass.

CORPSE REVIVER #2

£18

The Corpse-Reviver family of drinks is mentioned as early as 1871 in 'The Gentleman's Table guide'. Harry Craddock's version is one of the many after the recipe was published. Keep his warning in mind: 'Four of these taken in swift succession will quickly unrevive the corpse again'.

Gin, Americano Cocchi, Cointreau, fresh lemon juice, served in an absinthe-rinsed glass

AVIATION

£18

A tale of neglect and abuse, rehabilitation and redemption, the Aviation has been around at least from 1911. Hugo Ensslin first published the recipe in his 1916 'Recipes For Mixed Drinks', whilst the widely referenced 'Savoy Cocktail Book' (1930) dropped the crème de violette from the original recipe.

Gin, fresh lemon juice, maraschino, crème de violette

MARTINEZ

£18

Born in the 1880s, it is considered the grandfather of the Martini, this elegant classic was first prepared by "The Professor" for a guest on his way to Martinez, California, where a plaque still hangs to commemorate the occasion.

Gin, sweet vermouth, maraschino, orange & Angostura bitters

DARK N' STORMY

£18

The national drink of Bermuda since the 1860s, or even earlier. All we know to date it is that the Royal Navy added a ginger-beer bottling plant to their docklands complex sometime between 1860 and 1920.

Dark rum, fresh lime juice, ginger beer

HEMINGWAY DAIQUIRI

£18

The cocktail muse inspired Constantino Ribalaigua of the Floridita Bar in Havana to create this, the result is ambrosia. 'My Mojito in La Bodeguita, my Daiquiri in El Floridita' – Ernest Hemingway.

White rum, maraschino liqueur, fresh lime & pink grapefruit juice, sugar

KNICKERBOCKER	£18
One of the oldest drinks on record, it appears in Jerry Thomas' 'Bon Vivant Companion' in 1862. Probably named after the Knickerbocker Baseball Club which, founded in 1845, codified the rules of the game as we know it today. Dark rum, orange curacao, fresh lime juice, homemade raspberry syrup
OLD CUBAN	£19
A simple recipe but this elaborate relative of the mojito has plenty of potential! Created by Audrey Saunders of the Pegu Club in New York in 2004. Dark rum, fresh lime juice, sugar, mint leaves, Angostura bitter, finished with Champagne
TOMMY'S MARGARITA	£18
Created by the tequila world ambassador Julio Bermejo for his Tommy's Mexican Restaurant in San Francisco. The agave nectar gives a fruity and healthy twist to the drink. Tequila, fresh lime juice, agave nectar
PALOMA	£18
One of the most refreshing cocktails, combining the savoury and zesty ingredients indicative of Mexican cuisine: La Paloma (Spanish for dove) was invented by Don Javier Delgado Corona at La Capilla, the oldest bar in the tiny town of Tequila. Tequila, fresh lime juice, homemade grapefruit soda
BROOKLYN	£18
First mentioned in print in an obscure tome, J.A. Grohusko's 'Jack's Manual', by 1908 four of the five New York's boroughs had cocktails bearing their names. Rye whiskey, dry vermouth, maraschino, Amer Picon
VIEUX CARRE'	£18
Created by Walter Bergeron, head bartender at the Carousel Bar at the Monteleone Hotel in New Orleans, first published in the 1937 'Famous New Orleans Drinks and How to Mix them'. Named after the "old square" in the French Quarter where the hotel is situated. Cognac, rye whiskey, sweet vermouth, Benedictine, Peychaud & Angostura bitters
FISH HOUSE PUNCH	£18
Said to have been first concocted in May 1732 for the inauguration of the recently founded social club called the Schuylkill Fishing Company of Pennsylvania by a group of rebellious colonial Americans which declared it a sovereign state and called themselves "citizens." They still do it today. Cognac, dark rum, peach brandy, sugar, lemon juice

BITTER & TWISTED BLOND (500ml) £10

Pale gold in colour with delicate hoppy and fresh floral aromas. Grapefruit gives way to lemon on the palate with a well rounded finish aromatic hopes.

SCHIEHALLION PILSNER (500ml) £10

Hand crafted from Hersbrücker hops. Aromas of hops and flowery sweetness lead a full flavoured body and a dry finish.

OLA DUBH SPECIAL RESERVE 12 (330ml) £10

Aged in oak casks, formally used to mature Highland Park 12yr. Delicious richness with an underscore of truffle oil, heathery peat, a long finish of cocoa.

DOMAINE JEAN-FRANÇOIS COCHE-DURY COLLECTION

One need only speak of Meursault to evoke a myriad of questions regarding the village's resident icon, Jean-François Coche. He began working in the family vineyards alongside his father, Georges, at the age of fourteen, becoming the third generation of Coches to tend these vines. His marriage to Odile Dury in 1975 added to the family holdings, which lead to the formation of Domaine Coche-Dury. Since then, the enigmatic, modest, Jean-François has only reluctantly accepted the celebrity status of his wines. When asked, he would be most likely say that it is rigor, constant vigilance, and adherence to old-school tradition that makes the wines so special. Jean-François' heritage seems more closely linked to the studious, farmer-monks that once propagated this area of Burgundy during the Middle Ages than to the stocky Gauls of lore, as his work style is almost hermetical. Today, his son, Raphaël, has taken the reins with his wife, Charline, and the two continue the family tradition with great reverence.

The Coches farm almost 9 ha of vineyards on minuscule parcels over six communes: Meursault, Puligny-Montrachet, Auxey-Duresses, Monthelie, and Volnay. Approximately half of their holdings are situated around their hometown of Meursault, with their parcels of Bourgogne surrounding the home and winery. Though they are best known for their Chardonnay, they also bottle six exquisite Pinot Noirs. No clones of any kind are planted—an absolute rarity in Burgundy, where cold, humid winters, spontaneous springtime hail storms, and harvest rains all make farming a challenge. Once in the cellar, vinifications are long and traditional, with extended lees contact. This extra time on the lees prevents oxidation and works in tandem with the terrific freshness his grapes achieve. A good proportion of new wood is used, not to influence the taste of the wine, but rather to extend the cellar-aging potential of these pedigreed wines and to serve as a clean slate for perfect fruit. Coche believes strongly that the white wines of Burgundy should have nerve, and his are never among the ripest or highest in alcohol of his colleagues. It is their vibrant acidity, often hidden in the opulence that helps them to age so successfully and predictably. Though their bottlings are extremely limited, any chance to taste the wines of Coche-Dury promises a rare glimpse into some of the greatest vineyard management and winemaking in the world.

EGON MÜLLER COLLECTION

Weingut Egon Müller-Scharzhof is a renowned estate in the Saar valley sub-region of the Mosel in Germany. It exclusively works with the Riesling grape, and is particularly known for its wines made from the exceptional Scharzhofberg vineyard southeast of Wiltingen.

These wines are produced at a range of sweetness levels, including Kabinett, Spätlese and Auslese, and Auslese Goldkapsel in the best years. If conditions allow, sweet Beerenauslese, Trockenbeerenauslese and Eiswein are also produced. The Scharzhofberg releases are among the most sought-after of all German wines and achieve some of Germany's highest prices at auction. Despite the trend towards drier wines in the Rheinland, the Spätlese and Auslese tend to show plenty of residual sugar. All the wines need time to reach their peak and can age well; the Auslese can easily last half a century or more.

A vineyard of 8.5 hectares (21 acres) on the grey shale slopes of the south-facing Scharzhofberg vineyard forms the heart of the Egon Müller estate. There are also half a dozen smaller plots, mostly a little further down-river on the southwest-facing banks of the horseshoe in the Saar between Wiltingen and Kanzern. Fruit from these plots may feature in the generic Scharzhof Riesling.

The estate in its present form dates back to 1797, when Jean-Jacques Koch acquired the Scharzhof farm from the French republic. His daughter married Felix Müller, and the estate has remained in the same family ownership ever since.

CLOS ROUGEARD COLLECTION

The Foucault brothers have a long and yet quiet history producing wine under the Saumur-Champigny appellation. We say quiet because, despite the host of opinions given by the likes of Clive Coates MW, Andrew Jefford, Michel Bettane and others familiar with the estate, who all rank it among the top domaines of the Loire, Clos Rougeard still seems to have a very low profile, and is generally appreciated only by hardened Loire aficionados. Or perhaps Loire wine geeks would be a more appropriate name. Their wines are unique within the appellation, and when considering Cabernet Franc without doubt the Foucault brothers deserve to be ranked among France's finest.

Charlie and Nadi took on the responsibility of the estate in 1969, the vineyards having already been in the family for several generations, and they have continued to fashion the wines derived from their 10 hectares of vines using what are perhaps best described as artisanal and certainly organic methods.

The leading cuvée of Saumur-Champigny is Le Bourg, which comes from a 1 hectare plot of 70-year-old Cabernet Franc vines planted on soils comprised of a thin layer of clay. These are the vines that lie directly behind the courtyard and its anonymous gateway. There is also Les Poyeux, from a more distant plot of 45-year-old vines on more sandy soils, and finally for the reds there is the domaine Saumur-Champigny which is produced from other plots. If these wines are not sufficiently esoteric there is also a white Saumur named Brèze, made naturally from 100% Chenin Blanc, in miniscule quantities from 1 hectare of 40-50 year old vines. This wine is simply in a class of its own, a wine of rare dimension.

The vineyards are tended without herbicides or fertilisers, with the plough being an important method of weed control. After harvest by hand, the fruit is destemmed and fermented in barrel with the chapeau submerged by foot or by pumping over. The reds undergo malolactic fermentation in barrel, with Le Bourg going into new oak, Les Poyeux in used one-year-old barrels and the domaine wine in older wood again, often acquired from notable Bordeaux estates. There is no fining and no filtration, minimal use of sulphur, and the wine is bottled after 18-24 months in oak. The end result is that there is a substance to the Rougeard wines that sets them apart, but more importantly there is a textural quality to them, a silkiness to the tannins, that demands attention.

These are subtle wines, wines that do not assault the palate, but seek to impress on grounds of their elegant composition rather than forceful flavour or aroma. They are truly stunning wines.

DOMAINE PRIEURÉ ROCH COLLECTION

Domaine Prieuré Roch is a Burgundy producer with vineyard holdings throughout the Côte d'Or but mostly concentrated in Nuit-Saint-Georges. The domaine was created in 1988 by Henry-Frédéric Roch. Henry is the son of Pauline Roch – older sister to Lalou Bize-Leroy – and Henry is also co-owner and co-director of the Domaine de la Romanée-Conti. He bought some parcels of vineyards which Domaine de la Romanée-Conti – of which his family is part-owner – was selling, in order to buy the large slice of Romanée St-Vivant Domaine Marey-Monge which it had been farming. Whilst the domaine is driven by one man's vision/passion, of-course it's not just one man; today Henry is ably assisted in the vineyards and cuverie by his new number 2, Yannick Champ.

Domaine Prieuré Roch was established with just 2 hectares of vineyards divided between 4 different parcels in Vosne Romanée. It now has more than 14 ha with a strong majority in Nuit-Saint-Georges. The domaine's holdings include a number of highly regarded premier cru vineyards and it is arguably best known for the monopole Clos de Corvées. Despite the recognition of its premier cru parcels, its grand cru wines from Chambertin-Clos-de-Beze and Clos de Vougeot command higher prices. In 2010 Roch expanded further with a few hectares in the Côte de Beaune from which it produces its Ladoix Village from Chardonnay.

The vineyards are all managed using byodynamic farming practices. The only 'feeding' comes from a compost made from crushed vine shoots and grape marc composted with a little cow manure. Herbicides are banned and weeding done manually. The domaine has also gained a reputation for its strict low yield productions enforced in the early 1990s. Vine now produce roughly 18 hectoliters per hectare, in contrast with many grand cru AOC regulations that allow for up to 35 hectoliters. The winery harvests and ferments the grapes whole-cluster in every vintage. It also works to encourage fermentation from naturally occurring yeasts, highlighting those that occur uniquely in different vineyards of the domaine.

Nuits St.Georges 1^{er} Cru Clos des Corvées, 5.21 hectares

A vineyard that was exploited for many years by Louis Jadot – though they only managed around 5 of the 5.21 hectares. Henry Roch managed in 1995 to unite all of the Clos for the first time in hundreds of years. The average age of the vines is -70 years, some over 90 years old. Since 2002 there have been 3 passes in the vines, the first pass takes in the smallest and ripest grapes from all but those vines under 30 years of age this is the Clos des Corvées. Then there is another pass which will be simply named Nuits 1er Cru. The last pass – which includes the fruit of the young vines – is declassified to 'villages' and called Nuits St.Georges Number 1.

Vosne-Romanée Les Clous, 0.72 hectares

Les Clous is a name with a very old history in Vosne; in this case the name is taken for a blend of three village lieu-dits, Le Pré de la Folie, La Colombière and Aux Champs-Perdrix. The vines are relatively young, being planted in the 1980's.

Vosne-Romanée Clos Goillotte, 0.55 hectares

Almost like a garden to the fantastic old hunting-lodge of the Dukes of Burgundy. At one time, it extended to almost 1 hectare, today 0.55 hectares of 40-year-old vines remain enclosed by a wall. Despite its documented existence for hundreds of years this wine was 'lost' to villages labels until 1988 when Henry Roch put Goillotte on a label for the very first time. Henry calls this the most 'baroque' of his Vosnes.

Vosne-Romanée Hautes-Maizières, 0.63 hectares

Despite its village appellation, this vineyard often serves up a significantly more complex and compelling wine than its villages counterparts. With an average age of 40 years, these vines are sited close to the Suchots 1er Cru.

Vosne-Romanée 1^{er} Cru Les Suchots, 1.02 hectares

Thirty year-old vines at the northern end of the vineyard, bordering the Clos St.Denis lieu-dit of the grand cru Echézeaux. For info, the 2002 vintage yielded ~5,000 bottles or 36 hl/ah

Clos de Vougeot Grand Cru, 0.68 hectares

This is a very well sited plot within the clos, sitting just below the château. Guyot-trained, the vines are a blend of ages with planting dates in the 1930's, 1950's, 1960's and 1970's.

Chambertin-Clos de Bèze Grand Cru, 1.01 hectares

Henry leased this old parcel of vines in 1994 from a famous old name; Domaine Marion. The average vine age is a little over 45 years, in 2002 this vineyard yielded ~4,000 bottles or 30 hl/ha, and only 32 hl/ha in the high yielding 1999 vintage.

VEGA SICILIA COLLECTION

Vega Sicilia, Spain's "first growth"; and most prestigious wine estate, is located in Ribera del Duero, beside a highway east of Valladolid. The estate covers around 1000 hectares, of which 230 - 250 are under vines. It was founded in 1864 by Don Eloy Lecanda y Chaves, who arrived from Bordeaux with cuttings of local grapes (Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Malbec) and planted them, together with Spain's signature grape Tinto Fino (clone of Tempranillo) in the arid Ribera soils.

The winery begun building its formidable reputation after 1903 under the ownership of Antonio Herrero, winning a number of awards, and enjoying an international distribution. The estate changed hands several more times before its acquisition by the current owners, the Alvarez family, in 1982.

Vega Sicilia has founded its success on its meticulous wine-producing practices: In the vineyard it applies low yields, aided by green harvesting, and a painstaking grape selection. In the winery, wines undertake a complicated series of rackings from huge barrels to new and old oak. Despite the very prolonged barrel ageing, e.g. the 1970 Unico has over 16 years, the wine flavours are never dried out or overly oaky when mature, which is compelling evidence of the superb quality of its raw materials.

The Vega Sicilia range includes 3 cuvees: Unico ("unique") is the flagship, followed by Reserva Especial a blend of top vintages, both made up of Tinto Fino (80%), Cab. Sauv and little Merlot, and traditionally of 10 years ageing. Nowadays the wine maker, Javier Ausas ages the Unico wines for only 5-6 years, before bottling.

Valbuena is made from younger vines, and in years when Unico is not produced grapes normally destined for Unico will go into Valbuena. It is only released after 5 years' ageing. Spain's "Chateau Latour" has illustrious history, a sense of place, immense respect for tradition and immaculate winemaking. It has laid the foundation for what has become one of the best wine-making regions in Spain, Ribera del Duero.
